Start Truck Registrations For Winter Hauling Jobs

Hon. Gordon E. Taylor, Alberta Minister of Highways, has announced that truck registration for winter work commenced Wednesday, December 6th, and that the necessary forms will be available on or after that date in the Highways Building, Edmonton, and in the offices of the District Engineers at Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Calgary, Red Deer, Edson, Vermillion, Athabasca, St. Paul, Peace River, and Grande Prairie. Truckers interested in participating in this program must register early and all registration will cease as of January 15, 1968.

The program this winter is expected to be of limited volume and will be primarily in the more remote areas of the Province. The nature of the work places much of the hauling in isolated areas requiring the trucker to have portable living accommodation. A number of the haul routes will be across muskeg terrain and out of some of the major river valleys. The operators must, therefore, be competent and have the trucks in good operating condition.

The registration forms must be completed in every detail, in duplicate, and must be completed by the trucker before a Commissioner of Oaths. Commissioners of Oaths are available at the points of registration and it is suggested that the most use be made of these people to expedite the registration. Both copies must be turned in at the point of registration or returned to the Department of Highways in Edmonton. After checking and tabulating of the forms in Edmonton, one copy will be returned to the trucker which he must retain for presentation to the Engineer on a project to which he is assigned and answers the call for work.

The truck registration system was originally introduced to distribute work among gravel dump truck operators presently in the business and depending wholly on the work for their living. There is no guarantee for all registering that work will be available, however, the principle is to distribute the work as equitably as possible during the winter months. The success of this operation is entirely dependent on prompt acceptance of a call when given and immediate reporting to the work project. If an individual is not prepared to act in this fashion, then he should not register. Additionally, the trucker receiving a call and who does not advise his intent to proceed to the project within the time specified when registering would obviously be dropped from the listing in favor of other truckers. The success of this system is, therefore, entirely dependent on the full co-operation of all those registering.

Only one truck per owner may be registered. It is not intended that large firms, professional men, and others who have substantial business endeavors other than trucking register under this program.

The gross earning amount will be set initially at $1,200 per owner called to the work.

"Honey, it's beautiful!"

ON THE TEE LINE

The men's curling league is in full swing with just four draws remaining in the first square draw competition. All four sections are very close with only one or two points separating the leaders from the remainder of the rinks. Remember skips, there are no play-offs at the end of the draw. The team finishing in first place is the automatic winner.

Weekend curling action in the Grey Cup Bonspiel saw the Don Howarth rink emerge as the winner with four consecutive victories. Runners up were the Hill Innis rink with Milt McMahon's rink winning the B event.

Added attractions during the 'spiel were the two colored TV sets in the lounge for member viewing. Although the color, sound and lounge atmosphere were tremendous during the Grey Cup, the game itself, in this viewers opinion left much to be desired.

A thank you to Northern Video for loaning and installing one of the TV's for the game.

Any club still wishing to book ice for bonspiels is reminded that several weekends are already taken so reserve your ice now and avoid disappointment.

Death of Sister Mars First Complete Family Reunion

White Rock, B.C. was the setting recently for the first reunion of the Fox family of nine--one boy, Ernie, and eight girls.

With twenty-eight years separating the eldest and youngest, the oldest girl was married and living in Ontario with two children before the youngest was born. Consequently, over the years the whole family was never able to get together for a complete reunion.

In 1950 a grand reunion was planned to celebrate their parents 50th wedding anniversary but their mother passed away three months before the event could take place. On three more occasions the family attempt nions but each time one member was missing.

Finally the reunion was accomplished in November and all the children of the Fox family met in White Rock and photos taken on the evening of their arrival.

The celebration was marred by tragedy however, and the third eldest sister, Mrs. Edith Gordon of Aberdeen, Saskatchewan, suffered a stroke the same evening and passed away a week later.

The family was brought up on a farm in Saskatchewan but since then have spread from Fort William, Ontario to Victoria, B.C. and the United States.

Mrs. Yvonne Yurchak of Drayton Valley is the youngest member of the family.

ACROSS THE EDITOR'S DESK

Geared for Christmas . . .

Without question the stores and business places of Drayton Valley are geared for Christmas. Many thousands of dollars worth of merchandise have been brought in to make your Christmas shopping as easy and convenient as possible.

Merchants, if they were as asked, would likely solicit your patronage on the basis of service, quality, competitive prices and other features of doing business locally. We would like to add that beside the foregoing the community needs your support of local endeavours to ensure our continued progress.

If our business community thrives, the rest of the community thrives. The greater the volume of business here the greater the re-investment in goods, services and facilities with attendant interest from shoppers farther afield as new goods and pricing make the community increasingly attractive to both buyers and sellers.

The wheel goes 'round and 'round with the whole community benefitting as Drayton Valley continues to expand its image as a lively business town.

One Every Hour And a Half . . .

Every hour and a half in Canada someone is killed in a traffic accident.

We are nearing the end of Safe Driving Week but it's not too late to think about your driving in the future and your part in reducing auto accidents.

Think now in terms of defensive driving and be ready for the unexpected...wondering whether the car approaching on a curve will cross the centre line; whether there is a child behind the parked car ahead; whether you can stop in time if the car ahead stops; or whether you'll skid on the wet pavement.

Defensive driving will make your road trip more interesting and a lot safer.

Christmas Cantata . . .

A group of local men and women under the direction of Dr. Hugh Maclure have put a lot of work into preparing their Christmas Cantata which will be heard by the public here for the first time on Sunday, December 10th at the Church of God. This appearance will be followed by others and times and places announced elsewhere in this paper.

We encourage your attendance at one or more performances of this annual endeavour. The cantata to be presented this year is John W. Peterson's "Born a King" and will again be a welcome addition to the spirit of the holiday season.

Don't Harm Our Occasional Eagle . . .

In late fall and early spring the magnificent Golden Eagles are occasionally seen in the parklands and prairies on expeditions out from their remote mountain homes. Don't be tempted...hold your fire! The eagles will do no harm and will likely eat nothing other than carrion, rabbits and small game during their visit to the settled parts of the province.

They won't carry off any babies or sheep. And by the time the small lambs (that an eagle might be able to handle) are out in the fields, the birds will be long gone back to the mountains where their usual diet consists of rabbits, marmots, small rodents, birds, dead fish and (ugh!) carrion.

These tremendous birds are becoming increasingly scarce and need the protection of man. Some day you might like to point one out to your grandchildren as it soars over a mountain canyon--the live action would be a lot better than pointing one out in a book and adding: "We used to have lots of these but we killed them all."

EVANSBURG Junior - Senior High Notes

On November 25th the senior volleyball teams journeyed to Edson for a tournament with Edson, Hinton and Niton. Although the five boys, Roland Payne, Captain; Victor Kalinowski, Mark Thompson, Laurence Hill and Michael Maxwell played excellent games, they were unable to win two out of three games to defeat any one school. This was due to the shortage of players on the Evansburg team.

The girls, however, defeated Hinton and Niton, but lost out to Edson, the champions. On the girls' team were Nina Nyschuk, Captain; Julie Semenyna, Caroline Rosadiuk, Lynn Marshall, Irene Kreminski, Judy Shroder, Gloria Kreminiuk, Sharon Rosadiuk and Cecile Fausak. Thanks go to the coaches, Mr. Jensen and Mr. Jeans, and the bus driver, Mr. Proehl.

The Parent-Teachers' night held on November 24th was successful and we hope parents and teachers alike benefitted from the 15-minute conferences. Lunch was served by the Students' Union.

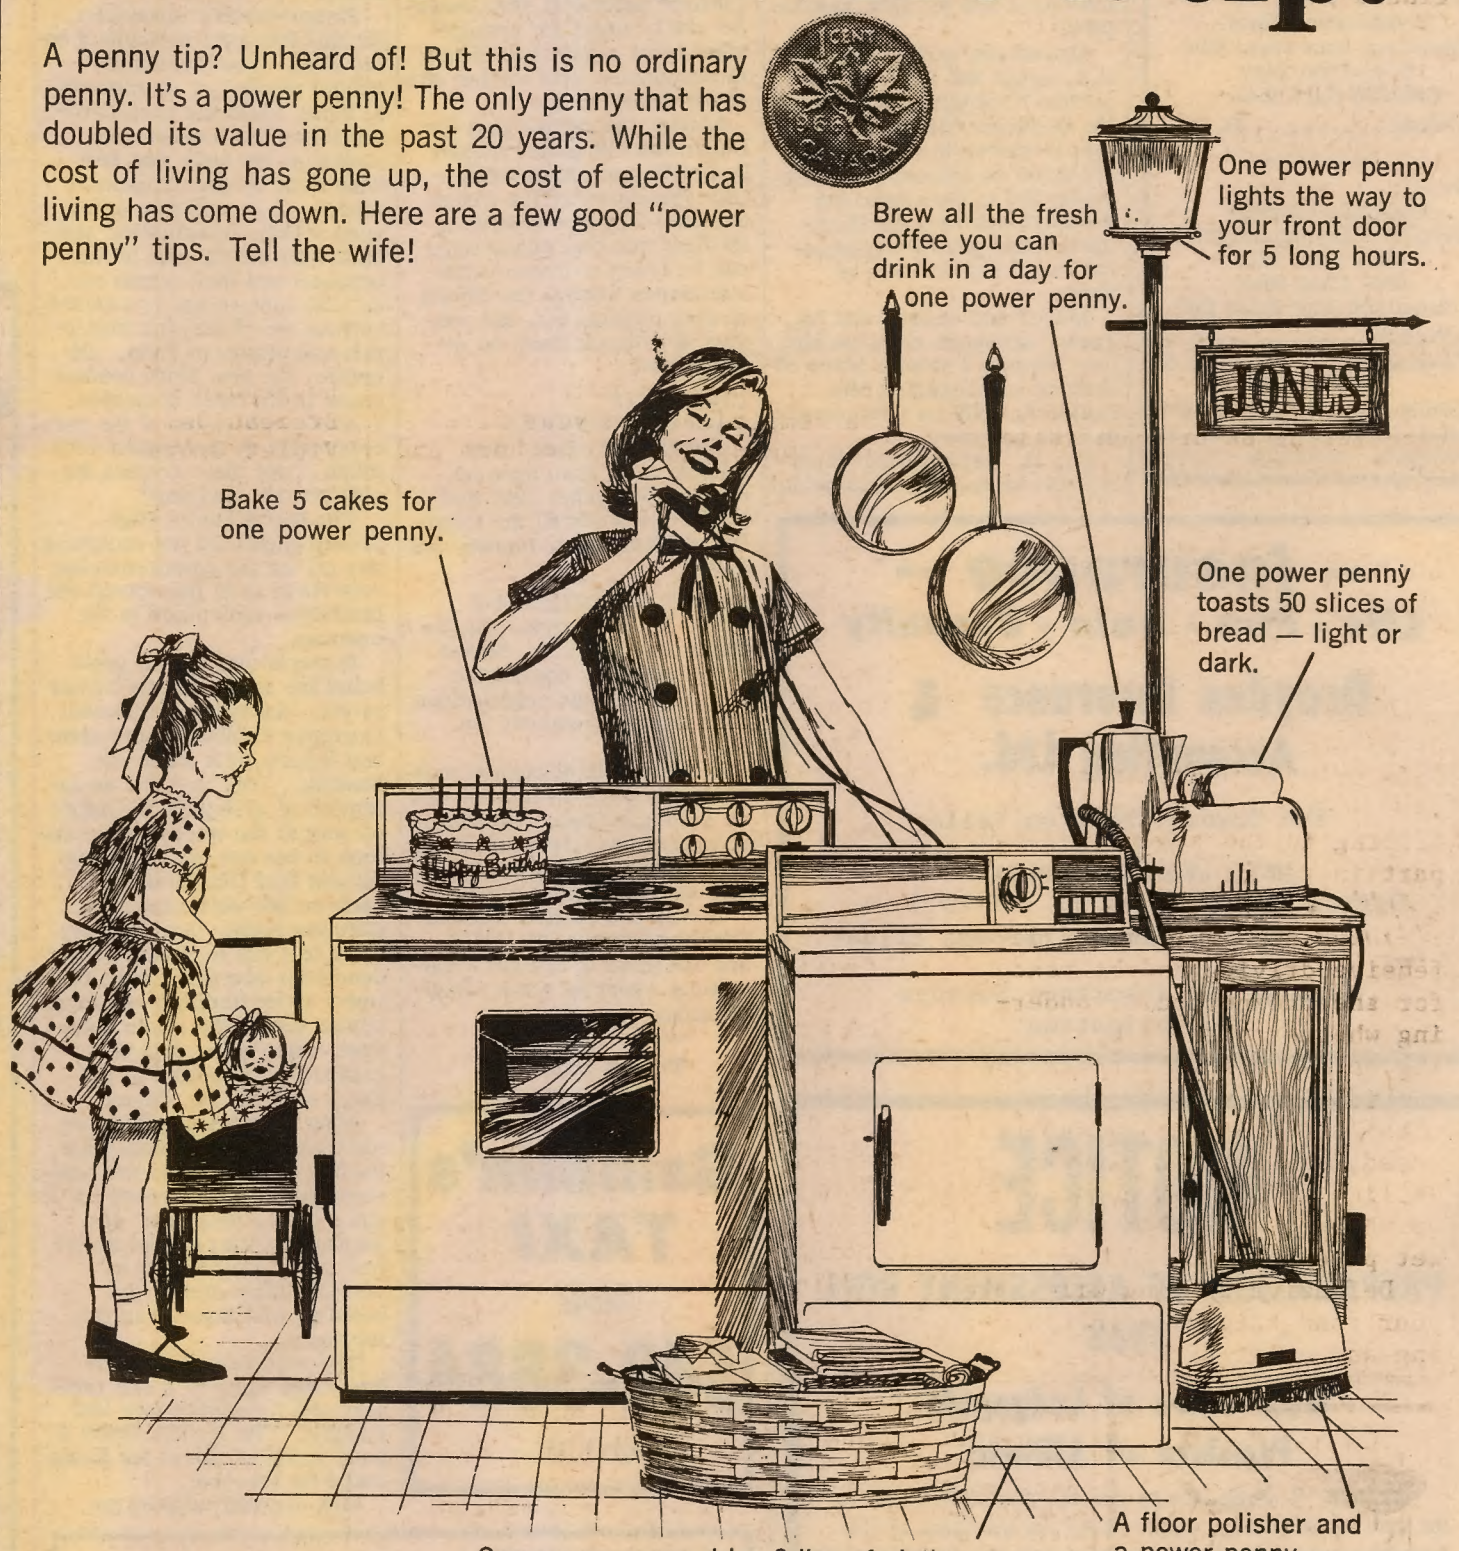
Leave the wife a tip.

A penny tip? Unheard of! But this is no ordinary penny. It's a power penny! The only penny that has doubled its value in the past 20 years. While the cost of living has gone up, the cost of electrical living has come down. Here are a few good "power penny" tips. Tell the wife!



Brew all the fresh coffee you can drink in a day for one power penny.
One power penny lights the way to your front door for 5 long hours.
JONES
Bake 5 cakes for one power penny.
One power penny toasts 50 slices of bread — light or dark.
One power penny dries 2 lbs. of clothes — ready to iron or put away.
A floor polisher and a power penny — another shining example of electrical value.

EVANSBURG

MRS. M. BRUNER,
Correspondent.

There are only 25 days until Christmas when this is being written, but the weather does not look very Christmas-like yet. However I have seen a few Christmas lights up already.

Parent-teacher interviews for this fall term took place on the 24th. The Elementary School pupils had an extra day at home while the parents interviewed the teachers and looked at the work that had been done by the children at school. It is really amazing what a little imagination and hard work on the part of the teachers and their pupils can do with such things as zonelite various use of drawing materials and plaster of Paris. Of course, the new Math courses came in for some discussion. I wonder how many of the parents really do understand very much about these courses the children are studying?

The Junior Senior High School pupils did not receive a day off for the parent-teacher interviews as in this school the interviews took place in the evening.

It seems that not all good bears are asleep for the winter as yet. Some time last week, Lawrence Feldberg came upon one female bear while out hunting. This bear had no intention of giving up her right-of-way to the woods and by the look in her eye Mr. Feldberg did not feel like turning his back on her while seeking a different route. So, the only thing left was to have a very dead bear who won't have to worry about finding a suitable winter den. The whole incident, after being duly photographed was reported to our game warden, Mr. Unger.

After a very long time, we see that Mr. Ted Stephan has his house moved onto the basement that has been ready for it since over a year ago. Mr. Stephan informs us that only a few minor adjustments to various places around the building will make it in tip top shape.

The members of the 4-H Beef Club went on a calf tagging and measuring tour last Sunday. The leaders report a good group of calves are being cared for this year.

Mrs. Lewiski informs me that she and her husband are leaving on the 9th of December for a holiday in Hawaii. This holiday trip was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Lewiski as a tribute to Mr. Lewiski for being the top Ford salesman in this area. We all wish them both a very enjoyable holiday and hope they can tell us, first hand, how Christmas preparations are carried out in this land of sunshine.

MRS. D. MARTIN
Correspondent.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gladstone who were married recently. Their wedding dance was held in the Carnwood Community Centre.

A shower was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnston for Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cropley (nee Beverley Kelly). This shower was hosted by Mrs. Dorothy Cropley and was well attended. The young couple graciously thanked those present for their gifts.

We offer sincere sympathy to Eugene, Max and Dennis Schwartz on the death of their grandmother, Mrs. Olson of Edmonton. Quite a number of our district residents had the pleasure of meeting this fine lady a few years ago.

Pat Gavigan spent a few days in Drayton Valley Hospital but is up and about again now.

Mr. V. Van De Castle has spent a few days with his family. He is returning soon to his job at Pine Point, N.W.T.

Mrs. Olga Lindell of Breton is still confined to hospital. We sincerely hope that she will be feeling better soon.

The Berrymoor Three B's Club held a bazaar and bake sale last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Bernice Lietz. Despite the rather nasty weather the event was quite successful. The ladies wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who contributed to this success.

Quite a number of local men have been trying their luck at big game hunting this week. According to reports their efforts haven't been too successful.

Mr. R. Rycroft and his son, Shane of Jasper, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. H. Barrett. They also have been getting in some hunting.

Mr. H. Hildebrand had his brother and nephew to visit him last weekend. These folks are from the Calgary area.

Charles and Mae Martin spent the weekend at the home of their parents.

Mrs. Allen Bryant of Edmonton spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell.

A tupperware party was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. Martin. Quite a number of ladies were present. The demonstrator was Mrs. Gladys Paul of Thorsby.

An equinox is that period when the days and nights are of equal length.

Chamber Meeting

Regular monthly meeting of the Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday, December 7th. Planned as a supper meeting, it will start at 6:30 p.m. in the Jade Cafe.

Several important items will be discussed and the executive urges a good turnout of members.

Hospital Payments

The steadily rising cost of hospital operation in Alberta has pushed subsity payments by the Alberta Government on an all-time high. The Department of Health estimates totals for the province for 1967 are running about two million dollars higher than in 1966.

The final estimated payment to Alberta hospitals has gone out in the amount of $4,160,-000. An earlier payment, in June, had totalled $1,179,000 A final payment for 1967 will be made early in the new year based on audited costs.

The final estimated payment to the hospitals is being made more than a month earlier than usual to assist hospitals facing operating costs estimated to be 20% higher today then they were one year ago.

The payments are supplementary aid to 125 active treatment hospitals in the province, made in addition to the regular monthly payments which have been running at about $4,500,000 per month. These hospitals maintain approximately ten thousand beds. Payments to Auxiliary hospitals for 1967 are expected to total about $7,500,000. There are 26 auxiliary hospitals in Alberta with a total of over 2,200 beds.

Canada's largest single foreign investment, Brazilian Light and Power Company, achieved a net income of $36 million in 1966, second highest in its history.

Alberta's wine industry is geared for an expected 175,000-gallon festive season demand. December is traditionally the industry's biggest month, and this year will be no exception. Expected sales will at least double sales of any other month this year. Calgary winery employee Chris McCauley puts the finishing touches on wine bottles coming off the production line at a rate approaching 1,000 gallons a day at peak periods.

Health Hints from THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

One of the most common causes of headache is tension. The Canadian Medical Association reports. The tension headache is usually in the back of the neck and head, but can spread into the temples and forehead. The neck muscles are tender to the touch. It results from continuous partial contraction of the muscles attached to the scalp. Typically these headaches come on towards the end of the day when the patient is tired.

A closely related type of headache is the psychogenic or emotional headache. It is due to emotional upset which may not be recognized. It is often described as a squeezing tight band around the head, a heavy weight on top of the head, or a feeling that the top of the head is going to be lifted off.

Migraine headaches are also common. Although occurring in both men and women, they are most common in women. There is usually a strong family history of migraine, and it tends to occur in the more intelligent, industrious, energetic, intense and obsessional people. It results from a sudden expansion of the arteries on one side of the head and brain, after a period of contraction.

Migraine usually starts with a visual disturbance, followed by a severe one-sided pounding headache accompanied by nausea and vomiting. It lasts for periods ranging from several hours to a day or two. The C.M.A. says that each of these types of headache can be eased by appropriate medication prescribed by the family doctor.

Persistent or frequent headaches are a cause for concern. People should not try to "learn to live with it".

To Present Christmas Cantata

Members of the Community Choir, under the direction of Dr. Hugh Maclure, have been busy practising the Christmas Cantata, "Born A King" by J.W. Peterson. The first presentation being Sunday, December 10th at 7:30 in the Drayton Valley Church of God.

Other performances will be held Monday, December 11, the Oilwives Christmas Party; Tuesday, December 12, St. Anthony's Church; Sunday, December 17, Drayton Valley United Church; Monday, December 18, Entwistle Hall; Wednesday December 20, Emmaus Lutheran Church; and Sunday, December 31st at All Saints Church.

HORVATH – HORSMAN

St. Anthony's Setting for Double Ring Ceremony

A lovely wedding was solemnized in St. Anthony's Catholic Church November 10th, 1967 when Lynn Berenice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Horsman of Berrymoor became the bride of Frank John Horvath, youngest son of Mrs. Horvath and the late Mr. James Horvath of Breton. Father Lynch officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Howard Pickup was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father looked radiant in a floor-length gown of white net over satin, overlaid with lace and lace bodice covered with seed pearls and sequins with lace lily-point sleeves. Seed pearls encircling a single white rose crowned her bouffant white tulle veil. She carried a beautiful bouquet of red roses.

The bride's attendants were the Misses Donna and Lynn Gillespie of Carnwood, friends of the bride. They wore identical floor-length dresses of royal blue velvet with empire waistlines, matching headbands, long white gloves and silver shoes completed their ensembles. Each carried bouquets of deep pink carnations.

The groom's attendants were Alex Horvath, brother of the groom and Gordon Johnson, friend of the groom. Dwayne Laughlin and Fred Martin of Berrymoor were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Horsman chose an American beauty rose crepe dress with an overlay of lace complimented by a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Horvath, mother of the groom chose a gold two-piece dress with matching accessories. A corsage of pink carnations and gold ribbon completed her ensemble.

Some 200 guests attended the buffet supper in the Lindale Hall which was beautifully decorated in blue and silver.

The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake baked and beautifully decorated by Mrs. John Johnson of Berrymoor.

After the reception a dance was held to which many more friends and neighbors attended.

The occasion was doubly joyful as it was the bride's grandparents 41st wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Belanger of Lindale.

It hit the side of a bridge and then rolled down a fifteen foot embankment, completely demolishing the car. There were two passengers with him at the time of the accident, Eric Gynp of Alder Flats and Betty Banfield of Edmonton. They were all taken to hospital by ambulance. Betty was the most seriously injured and will be in hospital another week. Carl and Eric received cuts and bruises and were released from hospital after examination and x-rays.

POLYNOSICS

Man has yet to invent a perfect fiber and rayon was no exception. In the first place it couldn't be mercerized and secondly, it didn't have good stability in laundering unless resin-treated.

Research and developmental programs began and resulted in the production of high-wet-modulus rayons or polynosics. In essence, polynosics are viscose rayons that have greater strength when wet than regular viscose. Though more stable than regular viscose, polynosics aren't as absorbent. Their manufacturing process was first developed by Japan in 1938 and later acquired by European and American textile interests. The trademarks Avril, Lirelle, Nupran, Vincel and Zentrel all belong to the same family or generic name polynosic.

Polynosics are used alone or in blends with natural or man-made fibers for all kinds of woven or knitted fabrics for all manner of apparel and household uses. High strength yarns are used for tire cord and other industrial uses.

Your major confrontation with polynosic fibers will likely be in Under-Current, the 100% Avril Rayon lining. It is 100% machine washable or dry-drycleanable--no preshrinking needed. It is available in two finishes, crisp or soft, and over fifty fashion co-ordinated colors.

In ready-made garments you will most likely find polynosics in blends with other man-made fibers, for example, nylon. Care for these fabrics as you would for rayon (or according to the fiber with which it is blended--Check Labels For Instructions).

In blends with cotton, polynosic fibers enhance the fabric's qualities of crease-resistance and ease of care.

New Books at D.V. Library

Miss Joanne Chenery will be a volunteer helper at the Municipal Library for the next four months. Joanne is working for her gold cord and has chosen the library as her community project. She has been a regular reader at the library and will be a great asset to the staff.

ARDA To Extend Recreational Area

Alberta Agriculture Minister H.E. Strom and Federal Forestry & Rural Development Minister Maurice Sauve announced this week approval of a jointly financed ARDA project to extend the forest recreational area concept by adding 10 more sites (James Wilson, Fish Lake, Upper Shunda, Strachan, Medicine Lake, Seven Mile, Siffleur Falls, Brazeau River, Ram Falls and Ruby Creek). The total expenditure over the three-year period to March 31, 1970, will be approximately $230,500.

The undertaking--directly aimed at increasing income and employment opportunities in rural development areas--calls for the provision of rustic public recreational facilities in forested areas, including construction of campsites, access roads and other amenities.

All the above sites are within the ARDA designated rural development boundary as it exists at this time.

All development plans will be in accordance with an overall plan, subject to approval by the Forester in charge of Recreational Planning and Development, Alberta Forest Service.

Win T.V.

The Drayton Valley Bowling Association raffled off a colored TV at its annual banquet Friday night. Winners were Mr. and Mrs. E. Kazoleas of Bambees Confectionary.

Also given out at the banquet were the pins-over-average monthly awards. These were won by Bea Lainchbury and Billy Rose.

The teacher placed this sentence on the blackboard: "I didn't have no fun over the weekend."

"Now, how could I correct this?" she asked Larry.

"Get a feller," he replied.

Proudly introducing

Another Alberta Junior Citizen of the Centennial Year!

PATRICIA ANNE ZEMANEK, Viking

While Patricia's parents were away at a funeral she suddenly smelled smoke. The lawn grass was ablaze! She fought the fire with wet rags but soon realized this to be futile. Hustling her small brother and sister into the farm truck, this brave 14-year-old girl drove it to a neighbours'. There, the truck stalled, so she took the neighbours' truck and drove to yet another farm. Upon arrival she phoned the fire department. A tractor, a shed and some farm items were lost in the fire, but Patricia had saved the farm!

We congratulate Patricia Zemanek and thank Alberta's Weekly Newspaper Editors for their active participation in the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year program, sponsored by Alberta's investor-owned electric utility companies.

This is one of a series of Junior Citizen Award announcements. Our special thanks to Robert Thunnell, Editor of the Viking News and to Patricia's nominator, Mr. H. A. Willens.

Canadian Veterinarians Assisting in England

OTTAWA--Canada has sent twelve government veterinarians to assist British animal health authorities in the foot and mouth outbreak in that country. Some three hundred British veterinarians and their assistants are engaged in this compaign.

In England, condemned herds are slaughtered and buried on the premises. Infected premises are quarantine, cleaned, and disinfected. Because of the transmissibility of foot and mouth disease, traffic through quarantined areas is restricted.

Canada experienced an outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Saskatchewan, 1952. This outbreak was attributed to the introduction, by an immigrant, of an infected piece of sausage-type meat which was subsequently fed to swine. The outbreak in Saskatchewan resulted in the slaughter of 1,343 cattle, 293 swine, 97 sheep, and 1 goat.

The economic losses involved were far reaching. Canada's entire export trade in animals and agriculture products not only to the United States but all other countries, was suspended for many months. In all, the economic loss to the Canadian agriculture industry was estimated in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Foot and mouth disease is an acute, highly contagious disease of cloven-footed animals, chiefly cattle, swine, sheep, and goats. It is caused by one of seven different types of viruses. Horses and dogs are not affected.

The disease causes blisters inside the mouth and between the clefts of the feet. Animals drool, lose their appetites go lame, and there is reduced milk production. Recovered animals are carriers of the disease. There is no cure for foot and mouth disease. Some European countries, because of economic reasons, endeavour to live with the disease through a vaccination program.

In Canada, vaccination is not permitted. The Canadian policy is the complete and total eradication of the disease by slaughtering all infected and exposed animals.

The disease spreads rapidly unless recognized and controlled by quarantine. Birds may act as mechanical carriers of the disease by transmitting the virus on their feet or feathers. The disease may also be transmitted on farm vehicles by wind, and in uncooked meat.

HUMANS AND FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Humans rarely catch foot and mouth disease; however, human infection is not unknown, particularly amongst laboratory workers. Humans may inadvertently carry the disease to livestock by walking from an infected farm to another farm without removing manure from their footwear.

CANADA'S POSITION

Canada has only experienced one outbreak of foot and mouth disease--Saskatchewan, 1952.

To prevent the introduction of animal diseases such as foot and mouth disease into this country, the Canada Department of Agriculture maintains a national veterinary service known as the Health of Animals Branch. Approximately 600 veterinarians, together with other supporting professional and technical personnel, are engaged in animal diseases control and preventive measures.

Full time federal veterinary officers are located in all livestock producing areas across Canada, at all large seaboard ports, international airports, as well as at the main ports of entry along the U.S. Canadian international boundary. They inspect all incoming animals and agricultural products.

Livestock may not be imported into Canada unless the health status of the imported animal is in keeping with Canadian import regulations. Cattle coming from countries other than the United States are only allowed entry under a permit and quarantine system and permits are not issued for livestock originating from countries where foot and mouth disease and other serious animal diseases exist.

At the present time, there are only five countries in the world, in addition to Canada, that are free of foot and mouth disease and other serious animal diseases. These are: United States, Norway, New Zealand, Ireland, Scotland.

In addition, under favourable existing disease situations, importations of cattle have been permissible from certain European countries. Under special health conditions involving inspection, tests, and quarantine designed to eliminate foot and mouth disease, cattle have been imported from France in 1965, 1966, and 1967, as well as from Switzerland in 1967.

Livestock diseases may be introduced through animal products such as hooves, hair, hides, and wool. The Department of Agriculture imposes restrictions and prohibitions on these commodities as well as on hay, straw, fodder packing and similar products of the soil.

Raw or uncooked meats are often associated with introduction of animal diseases. For example, the virus of foot and mouth disease may exist in frozen uncooked meats. To safeguard against such circumstances, no meats other than cooked canned meats may be imported from any country where foot and mouth disease is known to exist.

Animal diseases may also be transmitted by feeding uncooked meat scraps to livestock, particularly to swine. To guard against this, the Canada Department of Agriculture prohibits the feeding of uncooked garbage to pigs. Garbage is removed from visiting foreign vessels and incinerated. Vessels entering the St. Lawrence Seaway are boarded by Canada Department of Agriculture inspectors. Food lockers containing meats from countries where foot and mouth disease exists, are sealed. These seals remain unbroken while the vessel is in Canadian waters.

To familiarize Canadian veterinarians with foreign exotic diseases, the Department has, for the last nine years, maintained a training course at their Grosse Ile Quarantine Station. In addition, Canadian veterinarians have been seconded under External Aid and FAO programs to other countries on animal disease programs. Two veterinarians are currently working in this capacity in Ghana.

At Food and Agriculture Organization Conference in Rome, Canada's Agriculture Minister J.J. Greene (seated) listens intently as FAO Director-General B.R. Sen gestures to make a point. Center is Dr. Rolland Poirier, Assistant Deputy Minister (Economics), Canada Department of Agriculture. Seated at right is Russell Honey, Member of Parliament for Durham (Ont.), a Canadian delegate. The 14th FAO Conference opened November 2 and concluded November 23.

Coq au Vin

It's always exciting to discover a new gourmet restaurant where you can entertain friends or visit with the family to enjoy a very special occasion. It's even more exciting to discover a simple recipe for a gourmet meal which can easily be served at home.

Coq au Vin is one of the most popular French gourmet treats and yet it's sometimes prepared in different ways. Some recipes for ot may appear a bit complicated but Coq au Vin can be one of the easiest things in the world to make if you follow the recommendations of Roger Jones, Chef de Cuisine, at Toronto's Constellation Hotel.

One of the most popular and skillful chefs in Ontario, Mr. Jones has created a Coq au Vin gourmet recipe which can be made at home with very little fuss or trouble. The ingredients given are sufficient to serve eight people. It's a taste treat so deliciously blended that your entire family is likely to insist that you serve it many times again.

In addition to its simplicity of preparation, this particular gourmet recipe has another advantage. Any left-over portion can be placed in a covered casserole, kept in the refrigerator, and reheated in a couple of days with equally good results.

Ingredients:

- 4 lb. capon or roaster;
- 3 tablespoons of flour;
- 1 medium sized onion;
- 2 glasses of dry red wine;
- 2 Oxo chicken bouillon cubes dissolved in 1 cup of boiling water.

Method of Preparation:

Take the capon or roaster and separate legs and b east into eight pieces. Season them with salt and white pepper, roll in flour, and fry until golden brown. Finely chop one medium sized onion, saute until brown, and then add three tablespoons of flour.

Place the capon and onions into a deep casserole, add two glasses of dry red wine, and one cup of boiling water in which two Oxo chicken bouillon cubes have been dissolved. Add sufficient extra water to bring all the liquids up to the level of the capon.

Put a cover on your casserole, place in a 350 degree oven, and bake for about 1-1½ hours. Serve either directly from the casserole, or if you prefer, arrange the Coq au Vin on a hot platter and decorate with sprigs of parsley.

In France, Coq au Vin is usually accompanied only by parsley potatoes but buttered peas or beans can be included if you wish a green vegetable. Some Canadians enjoy serving it with rice and a green vegetable.

Almost Seven Million to be Distributed to Pool Members

Alberta Wheat Pool delegates at their 45th annual meeting now in session at Calgary have authorized the distribution of $6,817,891 surplus earnings to members in the form of patronage refunds. An amount of $2,330,916 will be paid in cash and $4,486,875 will be credited to Pool members reserve account accounts.

The following patronage refunds were declared on deliveries made by members during the 1966-67 crop year: On wheat, oats, barley, flax, rye and rapeseed, 5.78 cents per bushel; on wheat, oats, barley, flax rye and rapeseed purchased for seed: 5.5 cents per bushel; on fertilizer sales to members the patronage refund will be 10 percent of the dollar value; Ownership reserves will be purchased from the estates of deceased Pool members, from members who have retired from farming, and from members over 67 years of age. Cheques will be issued immediately for the purchase of reserves; patronage refunds will be made after reserve purchases have been completed.

This is the largest distribution of earnings in the history of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Col. Simcoe, first lieutenant governor of Upper Canada, and his family at York in 1793 on the day when he declared the name of Toronto changed to York. This was in honor of the success of the Duke of York against the French in Holland. Mrs. Simcoe's diary says, "There was a party of Ojibway Indians here, who appeared much pleased with the firing" - a salute of 21 guns to celebrate the occasion. One of them took Francis in his arms, and was much pleased to find the child was not afraid but delighted with the sound."

The illustration shows Mrs. Simcoe's hound, "Trojan", who once disgraced himself, she reported, by tearing in pieces a map of Canada which she had drawn. In the background is the "canvas house" in which the Simcoes lived. This was a large tent used by Captain Cook in his South Sea expedition; Simcoe bought it in London at the sale of the explorer's effects. It was set up on the high ground east of Garrison Creek, at the foot of the present Bathurst Street in Toronto.

Agricultural Machinery Costs

Agricultural Machinery Costs contains a simple method of estimating the overall cost of owning and operating agricultural machinery and of determining a fair charge for custom work.

Written by J.L. Thompson of the Canada Research Station at Swift Current, Saskatchewan, it offers some economic guidance to help a farmer decide whether he would be better off to buy a particular piece of machinery or to engage a custom operator. The advantages and disadvantages of custom work are also listed.

"Agricultural Machine Costs" can be obtained from district agriculturists and the Publications Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

The Second Decade

If you have a teenaged son or daughter you will be interested in what Dr. Evelyn Duvall, American sociologist who has specialized in youth, had to say on the subject.

The following points were recorded from her talk, entitled "The Second Decade", by Mrs. Edna Clarke, formerly District Home Economist at Olds and now Regional Home Management Specialist in Calgary, who chaperoned a group of 4-H'ers to Montana where Dr. Duvall was speaking.

One of the greatest emotional needs in the life of a teen-ager is to be accepted by his age group. In other words, to have friends.

"Going steady" in the teen years is unique to Western society. It is not found in any other culture.

Children have to rebel against parental domination in their teens. If they did not, they would never be able to stand on their own feet as adults.

"The Great Sex Swindle" of our time is the theory that sexual license is rampant everywhere. Dr. Duvall stated that no study conducted in the United States has ever indicated that people's morals are any different today than during any previous time in history.

Statistics show an upward trend in marriage age. More young people are recognizing the importance of education.

Young people have less respect for material things than their parents because they have never had to "do without"

Teen-agers are more at home in this modern age than their parents. Perhaps it is the parents that have the greatest adjustment to make in life.

MUSEUM PORTRAYS ALBERTA HISTORY

Third Section

THE WESTERN REVIEW

Drayton Valley, Alberta

Vol. III, No. 49 Dec. 6, 1967

Designed to portray the natural and human history of Alberta from the early ages, the Provincial Museum and Archives of Alberta was officially opened the evening of Wednesday, December 6th.

The massive $8,500,000 structure is located on an historic site, the 13½ acre grounds grounds of Government House in Edmonton. This land was purchased in 1910, less than five years after Alberta became a province, as the setting for a home for the Lieutenant-Governor, and the mansion which still stands there was opened in 1913.

The intent of the Museum and Archives is to provide a free public institution which will portray Alberta by its collecting, preserving and exhibiting significant natural and historical items and providing educational services to create a greater awareness of Alberta's heritage.

The Provincial Museum and Archives is a Confederation Memorial Project, one of the ten major projects constructed in the capital cities across Canada. Under a Federal-Provincial grants agreement, the Federal government provided $2.5 million, to assist in the construction of this project to mark Centennial year.

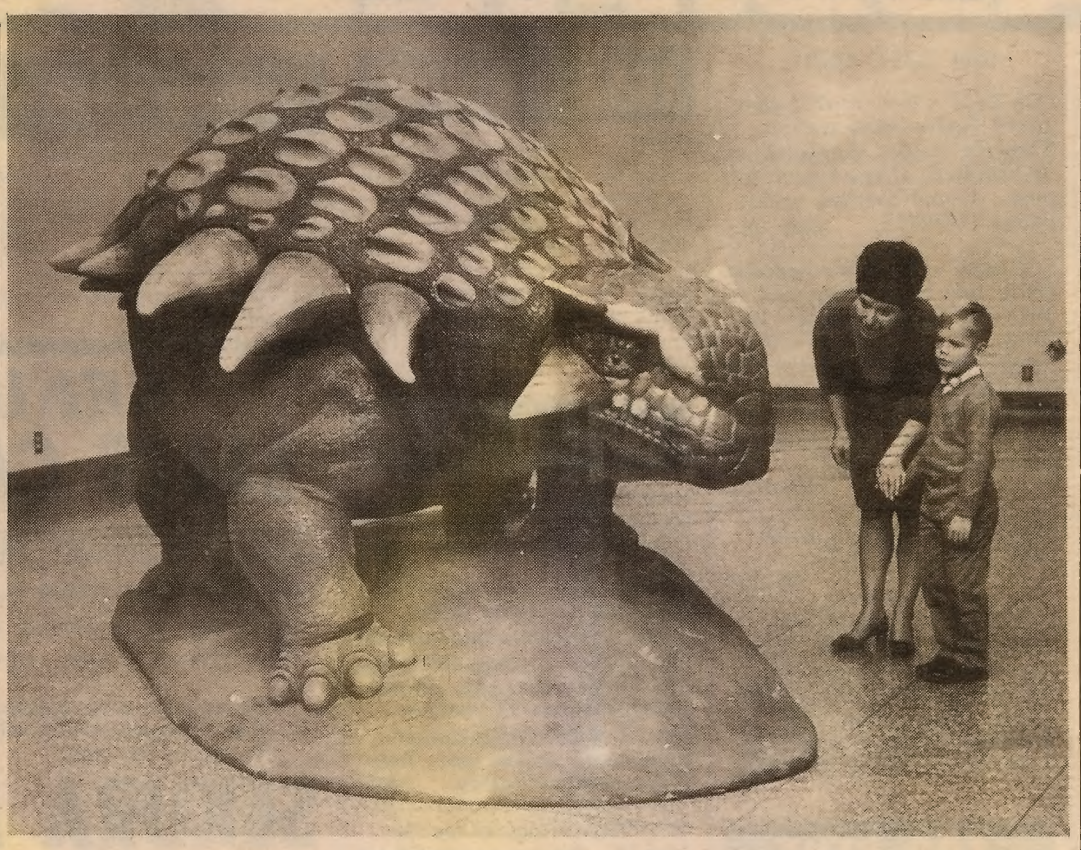
The structure started in 1965 and completed this year, contains about 250,000 square feet of space. Its $8,500,000 cost includes the building, furniture and display cases, engineering fees, the landscaping, driveways, courtyards paving and exterior sculpture, but does not include the cost of exhibits, collections and interior sculpture.

Exhibits being prepared for public viewing fall broadly into two main categories. The Natural History Curatorial Division arranges displays in zoology, birds, mammals, reptiles, insects, fish; in earth history, rocks, minerals and fossils; and in botany, plants. The Human History Curatorial Division collects, documents and restores artifacts, and produces historical displays such as agricultural or trade tools and equipment, clothing and domestic items, vehicles and firearms; ethnological material such as Indian utilitarian, ceremonial and decorative artifacts, and archeological specimens, projectile points, trade items and stone artifacts.

In the Provincial Archives section in the west wing, collections of documentary materials are organized for reference and research. Included are public records, private and business papers, photographs, books, pamphlets, and microfilms and tapes. The public area will contain reference books and index files, and a number of sound-insulated rooms for microfilm-reading and tape recording playback equipment.

The building has been designed to provide generous space for extensive displays, and there is provision for future expansion if this becomes necessary. The museum section has space to expand horizontally, and the archives section to expand vertically, to an ultimate height of eight storeys.

As a Confederation Memorial project, the building features stone facings from several provinces. The exterior wall is faced with Tyndall stone from Manitoba, and the slate paving for the walks and terraces is from British Columbia. On the interior, the lobby and orientation gallery inside the main door have floors of Canadian Black Granite from Alberta, and the walls are finished in glistening Tweed Pearl Marble from eastern Ontario.



A life-size Ankylosaurus dinosaur can be pretty scary to a 5-year-old boy, but this resident of the central Alberta jungles of 65 million years ago was strictly a vegetarian. This model is on display in the natural history section of the new Provincial Museum and Archives.

Public facilities covering 26,700 square feet include the entrance lobby and orientation gallery, a cafeteria, book store, lecture rooms and washrooms on the main floor, and a spacious carpeted lounge on the second floor reached by stairways, escalators or elevators. A 400-seat auditorium, with stage, and associated facilities cover 9,000 square feet on the main floor.

The display areas for galleries on the main floor and second floor occupy 46,000 square square feet. Curatorial, exhibit production areas and service corridors contain 72,000 square feet, and there are reserve collection rooms and st storage areas amounting to 5 53,000 square feet.

Mechanical equipment and service require 35,000 square feet, because several features not required in most buildings have been incorporated in the design of the mechanical and electrical systems. Special attention must be given to close control of temperature, humidity, noise and dust in the mechanical installations, for the preservation of museum and archival material. In the electrical work security, supervisory and internal communication systems were included.

In addition to the several display galleries prepared for viewing at the time of the official opening, other galleries will be opened progressively over the next several years, and some of the existing temporary feature displays will be replaced by more substantial exhibits. To be opened in 1968 will be part of the habitat group gallery, which will lead visitors through the prairies, parkland northern forests and mountain regions by means of habitat groups, mounted birds and animals before painted backgrounds.

Extensive collections of artifacts and specimens are required as bases for interesting and informative exhibits. Thus in natural history the museum has 10,000 specimens in earth sciences, geology and palaeontology; 2,000 specimens of birds and mammals. In human history there are 6,000 artifacts connected with the fur trade, 6,000

ISSUED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL HEALTH AND WELFARE, THE HON. ALLAN J. MACEACHEN, MINISTER.

Outline Mental Health Study

A comprehensive mental health study for the Province of Alberta was outlined this week at a joint press conference held by the Hon. E.C. Manning, Premier of Alberta, and the Hon. J. Donovan Ross, Minister of Health.

It was announced that Dr. W.R.N. Blair, Head of the Department of Psychology at the University of Calgary, will serve as director of the study.

The study is designed to: (1) provide an objective province-wide assessment of resources and evaluation of needs for maintaining mental health and treating mental illness; and (2) make recommendations for the development of an improved comprehensive and integrated program for the diagnosis, treatment, care and rehabilitation of the mentally ill and for the prevention of mental illness in Alberta.

The study will be undertaken in two phases. During the first phase, preliminary reports and recommendations will be submitted to the director by five major groups: (1) Voluntary organizations and interested individuals. (2) The division of Mental Health. (3) Visiting consultants, including nationally and internationally recognized authorities in areas relating to mental health. (4) A research survey team engaged by the study to compile statistical analysis of the nature and extent of mental illness in Alberta. (5) Committees of qualified Albertans, including representatives of relevant professions, who will be asked to participate in studies relating to special areas such as the following: physical facilities, economics of mental illness and treatment, administrative organization, treatment and therapy, community resources, mental deficiency, students and mental health, addiction, and forensic services. Voluntary organizations and professional associations will be invited to submit nominations for membership on these committees.

During the second phase of the study, the director and his staff will compile and evaluate the preliminary reports, and submit to the Executive Council of the Government of Alberta a summary report and recommendations for an improved comprehensive province-wide mental health program.

It is estimated that the two phases of the study will take approximately one year to complete. The Government of Alberta announced its intention to undertake this study in its White Paper on Human Resources Development presented to the Legislative Assembly on March 17, 1967.

Cream the thinking and the dreams. Add the years and beat until creamy.

Sift persistence and ability together and add alternately with the co-operation to the first mixture.

Add borrowing books, lectures, teachers, health, and plans. Fold in the years of youth, beaten stiff. Bake in any moderately good college or university. Time in college 4 or more years, depending on how you like your cake. Temperature, plenty hot. Servings will last for life.
